• OVERVIEW •

Ngilgi Cave Single Cave Entry

Ngilgi Cave is an exquisitely decorated cave; and it was Western Australia's first tourist attraction. It is home to incredible stalactites, stalagmites, helictites and beautifully coloured shawls.

Ngilgi Cave Single Cave Entry

Ngilgi Cave is located near Yallingup, at the northern end of the Cape to Cape region. European discovery occurred in 1899, with the cave formerly being known as Yallingup Cave.

The Semi-Guided Show Cave Tour is approximately one-hour duration and begins with an introductory talk from the cave guide while being led down into the first chamber or 'The Amphitheatre'. Visitors can then explore at their own pace, while another guide stationed in the centre of the cave can answer questions and provide more information on the many beautiful areas within the cave.
